Connecting Points

Re-connection

How do you measure the impact of a natural disaster—or two or three or more? While we will inevitably hear about the estimated financial costs of the hurricanes, earthquakes, and forest fires that have devastated parts of the US and Mexico this summer, there really isn't any after-math that can calculate the damage in human terms—physical, emotional, spiritual—associated with these events.

With only minor damage to our screened lanai, Ann and I count ourselves as fortunate in our personal encounter with Irma. But, like other folks who have shared their stories of the hurricane and the days following, we have experienced a certain mental fogginess, a lack of energy and focus, as one might after any trauma—a very natural and human response. So when I think of the people in the Leeward Islands and Puerto Rico, and what they must be going through and what they will be going through in the months and years to come, my heart breaks for them. The healing will take a very long time and still there will be scars.

Of course there are many people right here in Southwest Florida whose lives will never be the same, including some within our wider church community. And, as is most always the case, they are the folks who had the fewest resources to begin with. So as we at UUCGN think globally and act locally, the resources we've been able to bring together will be supporting their short and long term recovery.

Our community's financial response has been nothing short of wonderful. To date, our own little Irma fund has totaled well over $41,000 and we've been able to translate much of that quickly into desperately needed supplies, but now our focus shifts to longer-term recovery and to other needs.

We UUs are known for our practicality. If there's a problem, we love to take stock, work out a strategy, and get things done. Heck, if there's money to raise, supplies to buy, and transportation required to get everything to where it's needed we can do that!

If the problem is the long-term emotional and spiritual support of the wider community, the heart part of our mission—building a larger community of peace, justice, and (especially) love—we don't necessarily know where to start.

This is really our challenge, our important work: to match deeds to words and express love in all that we do—which sometimes means not solving problems, but being awake and showing up when there's an need, being present for our neighbors, and listening with compassion.

As I write this, I am reminded that disasters are not just natural, but can be all too human. We add Las Vegas to the litany of places where human beings have expressed, in sick and tragic ways, the disconnect they feel with the rest of the world. We respond with shock and grief for the victims and their families of the shooting on October 1. And we know, though we don't always know what it means, that the problem is a spiritual one, and the answer to this or any disaster is re-connection, for ourselves, for each other, one moment and one human being at a time. And so . . .

TONY

Go out into the world in peace,
Have courage,
Hold on to what is good,
Return to no person evil for evil,
Strengthen the fainthearted,

Support the week,
Help the suffering,
Honor all beings,
And love one another as if it really matters,
Because it does.

New Procedure for Donating Items

A slight change in policy is now needed due to our growth as a congregation. Please do not bring to church any tangible items that you wish to donate. You need to call Anna at the office and inform her of what you would like to donate. Any technology, paintings, CDs, and supplies need to be referred to the appropriate committee. Anna will contact the applicable committee (Technology, Aesthetics, RE, etc.) for you! A person from the committee will then contact you. Thank you so much for your cooperation with this matter!

Your Views Are Welcome!

Once the new pavilion is furnished and running, at least one member of the relatively new Committee on the Ministry (COM, described in the following paragraph) will be present one Sunday of each month during the refreshment time at a clearly marked UU FEEDBACK TABLE on the patio. The sign is courtesy of Ann Fullarton. This will create opportunities for congregants to offer, in a direct and effective manner, their positive feedback, personal concerns, ideas, and suggestions. In following the best practices of many UU congregations, the Committee On Ministry (COM) was formed to be the congregation's ombudsman, its process-observer, and its conscience. It does this by being present within the congregation, but also by standing apart, reflecting on the combined observations of its members. With its primary commitment to the Mission of the Congregation, the committee believes that each and every member of the congregation has the potential to impact that mission in a positive way and improve the quality of ministry within the community and beyond. The committee consists of five members jointly nominated by the Board of Trustees with the minister as an ex officio member. Present members are Maureen Armour, Mish Batty, Bob Bollinger, and John Boettjer, with a fifth member pending appointment. We look forward to hearing from you soon at the UU Feedback Table!

You do not need to commit to coming every month. We begin with a check-in and brief reading, then break into small groups for discussion. For more information, contact Ann Fisher at AW Exercise Program meets every Thursday at 11. This is a CO-ED gentle exercise program that is adaptable for anyone regardless of your physical limitations. This group is OPEN TO MEN & WOMEN.

Circle Dinners -October 20

Circle Dinners are a way for you to get to know other members and friends in our Naples UU world in a more intimate way. We try to meet in small groups so that there is an opportunity to talk with each other throughout the evening. Our dinners are always held on the 3rd Friday of each month. We Share dinner in each other's homes, the host prepares an entrée, and lets their guest know what to bring to compliment the entrée. We try to keep our dinners small in number with 6, 8, or 10 guests per house, so that there is plenty of time to get to know each other. We have anywhere from 2 to 6 dinners each 3rd Friday of the month. There is a sign-up sheet in the foyer for the Friday, October 20 circle dinners. Please contact Cheryl Lash net if you are willing to become the new Circle Dinners Coordinator. Many thanks to Marjorie and Sal Corrallo for coordinating the dinners so far.

Potluck and Pumpkin Carving

Saturday, October 28, 5:00-8:00 pm.

When is the last time you carved a pumpkin? Or REALLY celebrated the turning of the seasons? Many cultures have fall festivals or holidays to celebrate the changing from summer to fall, a last hoo-rah before the cold of winter settles. Join us for our own UU Naples fall tradition of pumpkin carving and a potluck. Come dressed in costume, or come as you are! Please bring a pre-hallowed pumpkin for carving and a dish to share. If you are unable to hallow a pumpkin, but would still like to participate, please contact

Lisa at DLRE@uunaples.org.

The Green Corner

Let's Talk About Climate Change

It's time to start pressuring our legislators to get serious about establishing a statewide plan to address both the impacts and causes of climate change.

The 2018 Florida legislative session unofficially begins in just a couple weeks as legislators hold their first committee meetings, and already the stakes are high. Rest assured the powerful, deep-pocketed corporate interests are planning their latest attacks on our environment, among other issues. We need to fight back and build a more progressive Florida despite their best efforts.

Some of our recent extreme weather is tied to climate change. Scientists have published strong evidence that the warming climate is making heat waves more frequent and intense. It's also causing heavier rainstorms, and coastal flooding is getting worse as the oceans rise because of human emissions. Global warming has intensified droughts in regions like the Middle East, and it may have strengthened a recent drought in California.

In many other cases, though – hurricanes, for example – the linkage to global warming for particular trends is uncertain or disputed. Scientists are gradually improving their understanding as computer analyses of the climate grow more powerful. (NYTimes Sept 24th 2017)

What can I do about it?

Reduce your carbon footprint in simple ways that'll save you money – such as: plug leaks in your home insulation, install a smart thermostat, use more efficient LED bulbs, eat less meat. But the problem of rising carbon emissions can be solved only by large-scale, collective action. Entire states and nations have to decide to clean up their energy systems, using every tool available as quickly as possible. Economists say one of the most important steps society could take is to limit emissions – and one idea that's becoming more popular is to put a price on carbon pollution (carbon dioxide and methane). Exercise your rights as a citizen; speak up and demand change.

Send this Message to Governor Rick Scott, Florida State Governor – (850) 488-7146:

Florida needs a comprehensive state plan for preventing and mitigating the risks associated with climate change to our communities. Climate change is causing environmental and economic threats to Florida. We're especially threatened by rising sea levels, increasing temperatures, and water availability.

Heavy rain and tropical storms overwhelm drainage systems designed to dump floodwater into the ocean. With increasingly severe weather, saltwater will permeate our porous landscape and seep into the Everglades, jeopardizing the freshwater supply relied on by nearly 6 million Floridians. Between $15 - $23 billion of existing property will likely be underwater by 2050. This is about survival. It's time that combating climate change is seen as the priority it is in Florida.

Adult Enrichment Autumn Offerings

The Adult Enrichment Committee will be offering several programs over the autumn and early winter months. Also, in conjunction with our new Director of Lifespan Religious Education (DLRE), Lisa Hill, and in collaboration with Rev. Tony, we will launch Chalice Circles in mid-November. More information on Chalice Circles can be found below. The lineup of other offerings over the short term includes:

UU 101: An overview of Unitarian Universalism targeted to both those new to the faith and those seeking a refresher on it. On Tuesday evenings October 17, 24, and 31, Rev Tony will lead this series and will repeat it in the spring, on March 15, 22, and 29.

Creative Thinking Workshop: Improve your creativity through creative writing, physical movement, breathing, mind-mapping, storytelling, drawing, and more. Led by Thomas Keller, the class will take place on the evening of Thursday, October 19.

Goal Setting: On Tuesday November 7, the topic of goal setting at the professional level will be presented by UUCGN member Joshua Sky. Joshua plans to offer both an afternoon and an evening session (identical content, two options for your convenience). He will also offer a session on goal setting at the personal level in January, date TBD.

The Launch of Chalice Circles

First, in case you are wondering, Chalice Circles are a form of Small Group Ministry. Groups of 6 to 10 people meet regularly — in our case twice a month — to reflect, to share deeply, and to listen without judgment about concerns of the heart and mind. Chalice Circles are great places to get to know other people and to get to know yourself better. Over time, participants develop deep connections with one another, with the congregation, and with their spirituality. Topics will range from “Soul,” “Security, Serenity, and Peace of Mind,” “Fair Is Fair,” and “Cultivating Ourselves” to “Mental Wellness,” “Happiness,” and “Bucket Lists.” Each gathering is structured and facilitated by a member of the congregation who is trained in facilitation. Participants are encouraged to share their stories and learn how to listen deeply without judgment to others.

We plan to have Chalice Circles that meet for six months and others that meet for three months (during high season). The number of groups in each of these two categories will depend on the number of members who sign up to participate. Exact days and times will be finalized soon and sent out in the Weekly Highlights and other email communications from the office, but feel free to contact Ann Fisher at annmfisher3@gmail.com or Kathie Gorski at kathie.gorski@gmail.com with any questions.

Starting the week of November 13, the six-month Chalice Circles will begin to meet (the three-month groups will begin meeting in mid-January).

We will soon be contacting those who have thus far agreed to serve as facilitators with additional details on the training session, but if you have not volunteered to be a facilitator but are interested, simply contact Ann or Kathie and we will bring you into the loop. Rev. Tony will talk a bit about Chalice Circles from the pulpit, and we will provide more information as the time of launch approaches.

Survey Coming Soon

The programs that are described above have grown out of discussions with members of the congregation or have been brought as suggestions to the Adult Enrichment Committee over the course of the past 6-9 months. So that we may offer a variety of adult enrichment topics of interest to both members and friends of the congregation, from young adults to seniors, we need to know what you'd like us to offer in the future. We will soon be sending out a survey to ask for your thoughts, and we hope you will let us know what types of programs are of interest to you.

Thanks!

Ann Fisher and Kathie Gorski (co-chairs), Lisa Hill (DLRE), Rev. Tony Fisher, John Boettjer, Adrienne Cady, and Joshua Sky

Carlene Thissen, is a singer, songwriter and author in Naples, Florida, where she dedicates herself to performing, speaking, songwriting, singing and playing piano and guitar. She also serves the community as Coordinator of a Farm Labor Supervisor Training program at the University of Florida's Research & Education Center in Immokalee. Carlene says a series of God-driven events led her back to her true self through the agricultural community of Immokalee, where she volunteered as a music teacher for pre-school children and sang in the choir at Our Lady of Guadalupe church. Her love of the farm workers inspired two books: Fields of Hope and Called From Silence: The Father Sanders Novel. She graduated with a B.A. in Business Administration from the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul, Minnesota in 1982, and an M.A. in Latin American History from Florida International University in Miami in 2005.

IMMOKALEE'S FIELDS OF HOPE

Carlene weaves the personal, intimate stories of the Mexican, Guatemalan and Haitian immigrants with the political histories of their home countries. Carlene lets you see inside her time in Immokalee and how these beautiful people have forever changed her life.

FATHER SANDERS

Father Richard Sanders served farm workers in Naples and Immokalee, Florida. Carlene came to know and love Father Sanders through the stories the farm workers shared as she wrote her first book. She spent two years writing this novel-like biography. Father Sanders was a Trappist Monk who left the silence of his South Carolina abbey to help the poor during the boiling emotions of the 1960s.

Lan Lam, a new night, new music, and enthusiasm. Singing is such a joy and adds so much to our worship. Please join us on Thursday, October 12 at 6:30 pm as we start a new season. Please contact Ann Fullarton at auntmeg@comcast.net for more information or if you would like to join.

Name Tags

Name tags are under the purview of the Membership Committee. We have been asked to clarify the color code and sticker use before Anna tackles reprinting and reorganizing them over the summer. Colors will stay the same: Green: Returning visitors who expect to attend frequently. Yellow: New Members; until they are introduced to the congregation at a Recognition Ceremony. (The yellow tag should be a signal for long-time members to make an effort to welcome the new member). White: Member; Blue: Officers. Instead of stickers, a committee designation will be printed under the person's name (ex. Membership, Social Justice, Music etc) by request. For those of us serving on several committees, it may be best to limit the number of designations to one or two because of name-tag space, keeping in mind the purpose is to help newcomers identify a person whose committee they are interested in. Additionally, besides the first and last name in a large font, the Rainbow & "LGBTQ member or ally" can be added (as approved by the Membership Committee). We can fit a committee designation or two with this. Individuals are asked to please let Anna know if they would like the rainbow and/or their committee designation added to a name tag. UU Congregation, Naples will be printed on the bottom of each tag.

Prospective Member Orientation

For those who would like to find a way to connect and learn more about our congregation and for those who may be ready to join, we will have a series of orientations usually after a Sunday service at 12pm. They last about 2 hours. Childcare and a light lunch will be provided. Please contact the office to sign up.

Sunday Flowers Policy

Music and Worship together with The Garden committee have come up with a Sunday Floral idea which is more "GREEN" and also reflects our tropical climate. Kathy Ripin has put together two beautiful LIVING arrangements to be used on alternating Sundays. Once the blossoms have faded, the orchids and plantings will be transferred to the garden. The question most people will have is, "Will I still be able to dedicate Sunday Flowers for a special occasion or memory?" Yes, you may do this one of two ways. First let Anna know your intentions, write your memorial, and have the florist of your choice deliver the flowers and pay the florist directly. The second choice is to Write a check for $25.00 to the UUCGN (note garden memorial) The order of service will acknowledge your gift. Your donation will be used to replenish our floral arrangement.

"The Beauty of a Violin and Piano" - UU Fundraiser

Through the generosity of Daniela Shtereva and Richard Bosworth we are now selling their wonderful CD: The Beauty of a Violin and Piano. All the proceeds will directly benefit our UU congregation. This is possible because Richard and Daniela wanted to let our Congregation know how much they have appreciated our love and support and have donated 50 CD's to this fund raiser. If you have not heard it, it is simply an exceptional recording of fabulous music, recorded by two equally wonderful musicians. It is a "must Have" CD which is guaranteed to bring hours of musical delight. The price for each CD is $20.00. They will be for sale after Sunday Worship and in our business office.
